

GOVERNOR JAMES STILL SILENT ON PRESIDENTIAL AIMS

Political Observers Anticipate Softening of Chief Executive's Attitude

COMMENT BY DEWEY

James Says He Will Do All In
His Power To Wipe Out
The New Deal

By Tom R. Brislin
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 7.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's Gov. Arthur H. James continued silent today on the possibility of his becoming a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1940, but political observers anticipated a softening of the Chief Executive's attitude before long.

Time after time, Governor James has cast aside reports that he was seeking the Presidential nomination with the declaration that he had a job to do as Governor and had no further political ambitions until that job was completed.

Today, however, political seers forecast the battle for the G. O. P. nomination next year narrowed down to two candidates—Governor James and New York's battling District Attorney, Thomas E. Dewey.

Even the Governor himself commented on the possibility of "the red-headed breaker-boy running up against the New York detective" in the struggle for control of the Republican National Convention.

The Governor parried all questions as to his Presidential ambitions with a declaration that the Republican candidate should be one who is "not just a Republican, but a man who is convinced that a change is needed and will fight for it."

Of reports that he would be asked to give the keynote address to the party's national convention next year—a spot that would definitely place him in the limelight for recognition as a candidate—Governor James said:

"I appreciate the gesture, but I think I ought to be a little mouse in the convention." The prospect "of getting up there and addressing all those people frightens me," he added. The Chief Executive admitted that he would do all in his power to wipe the Roosevelt New Deal Administration from the White House in 1940—whether as a candidate or in his role as Pennsylvania's Republican No. 1.

"When I ran for Governor," he asserted, "I was convinced that the national administration was not the one for our country." He added that since he has been in office that conviction has been even more impressed upon him.

The Governor conferred yesterday with State Senator G. Mason Owlett, Tioga County, Republican National Committeeman and Senate floor leader, relative to the possibility of a special legislative session to raise additional relief funds.

The Governor denied, however, that he discussed Presidential possibilities with Owlett, expected to make a race for the Republican nomination for U. S. Senator next year.

Governor James declared that the need for a special session was diminishing because of the industrial upsurge and indicated that a session might be called merely to transfer funds.

13-Year-Old Miss Has Very Jolly Celebration

Miss Mary Mauro was honored on Saturday evening by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mauro, Penn street, at a party in celebration of her 13th birthday anniversary.

Games and singing were the evening's pleasure. Red and green were the decorative colors, and refreshments concluded the enjoyment.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dorsey and family, Mr. and Mrs. Patsy DeLuca and family, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Dorsey and family, Mary Marie and Dominic Bomentre, and Rose Rovella.

Miss Mauro received many gifts.

Sudden Heart Attack Is Fatal To G. S. Speck

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Dec. 7.—Seized with a sudden heart attack as he dressed to go out yesterday, George S. Speck died at his residence, Simons avenue. He was 64 years of age.

Mr. Speck, husband of Mary T. Speck, leaves in addition to his wife, two daughters and two sons, namely: Miss Eva Speck and Mrs. Francis Jobson; Howard Speck, of Cornwells Heights; and Walter Speck, Langhorne.

Dr. H. Clayton Moyer, Bucks County coroner, was summoned, and issued a certificate which gave cause of death as a heart ailment.

The late Mr. Speck was a member of the local lodge of the Patriotic Order, Sons of America.

The funeral service will be conducted at the funeral home of Harold H. Haefer, Bristol Pike, on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. The Rev. Arthur Sargis, pastor of Eddington Presbyterian Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Forest Hills Cemetery, Somerton. Friends may call Friday evening.

SAYS BILLBOARDS DEPRECIATE VALUES

Are Considered A Detriment in Any Residential or Business Section

MAR RURAL SCENERY

Billboards have long been considered unsightly and vigorous campaigns have been waged in many communities against them. They are considered a detriment to any community where they are placed and depreciate the value of property in that community.

The Bucks County Real Estate Board today made public a letter from the National Association of Real Estate Boards, Chicago, Illinois, and addressed to Mrs. W. L. Lawton, National Roadside Council, 119 East 19th street, New York City.

The letter reads:

There is no question in my mind, nor in the minds of the authorities on depreciation in our Association, concerning the depreciating effect of billboards on real estate values. In good residential neighborhoods, billboards and outdoor advertising are sharply detrimental and are often the initial cause of blight which can destroy more than half of neighborhood values. Certainly the values of our countryside are injured by billboards. It has often been noted that counties or regions where billboards along the roadsides become plentiful are soon avoided by the traveling public, which prefers, of course, the roads where unspoiled nature can be enjoyed.

Real estate values are in part created by access to certain community facilities such as roads, municipal services, schools, libraries, and many other things. But real estate values are also created by what we call the amenities, the things that please the eye and our other senses. This fact is accepted, not only by common sense, but in our laws. An industry or a business which creates an unpleasant odor in any neighborhood given over to residences is declared to be a nuisance and can be removed. There is a growing recognition that we can also have visual nuisances.

The total loss in value, caused by billboards, in my judgment constitutes a sum many times greater than the gross annual revenue of all of the outdoor advertising in the nation. In other words, we could well afford to subsidize the billboard industry by paying it a sum equal to its entire annual revenue in order to desist from outdoor advertising and still be a great deal of money ahead in the long run.

For many years a devoted group of men and women in the garden clubs, the women's clubs, and the civic associations, has been seeking to protect our amenity values. Personally, I believe it is high time that strongly organized business groups come to their aid. I shall be glad to do anything I can to be of help.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) HERBERT NELSON,
Executive Vice-President.

CHRISTMAS TREES HERE

Christmas trees have made their appearance in Bristol. Some dealers here already have stock of variety of evergreens, and others are taking orders for later delivery.

Laurel was placed last evening as an addition to the Christmas decorations on Mill and a portion of Radcliffe street.

Large Aerial Battle

London, Dec. 7.—In one of the largest aerial battles of the war, at least 12 British fighting planes today engaged German reconnaissance craft at sea off the entrance to the Firth of Forth. Results of the sky battle were not known, but it was said that no German flyer succeeded in reaching land or attacking the Firth, site of one of Britain's major naval bases in Scotland.

Residents of the east coast of Scotland huddled in air raid shelters during a 35-minute aerial alarm, and heavy gunfire was heard all along the coast.

Join in "Give A Job" Drive

HARRISBURG, Dec. 7.—Pennsylvania's retailers today joined with the Governor's "Give A Job" committee in seeking to create job opportunities for thousands of jobless in the state.

A vote of co-operation was expressed by retailing interests, following a round table discussion of the job drive's purpose. A meeting was called for next week in Philadelphia, at which an effort will be made to revive the now-dormant Pennsylvania Council of Retail Trade Associations.

The retailers hoped to make the Council the "spark-plug" organization. It was planned to draw upon promotional men from within the retail trade to aid in carrying forward a program of co-operation among manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and consumers in the state fight to cut unemployment.

Charge Use of Poison Gas

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 7.—Soviet Russian troops used poison gas shells in an attack upon Finnish detachments, north of Lake Ladoga, it was stated officially today, according to word received in Copenhagen.

The Finns suffered eleven gas casualties, the report stated.

100 Planes Expected By Finland

HELSINKI, Dec. 7.—Finland expects a shipment of 100 fighting planes from Great Britain, in addition to the 50 received from Italy, it was learned today, coincident with an official denial of Soviet claims that the famed Mannerheim Line on the Karelian Isthmus had buckled under Russian pressure.

The main line of Finland's fortification in the south is holding fast, military officials said, while reports from mutual sources in Stockholm indicated another sweeping Finnish victory northeast of Kempeaervi, where 3,000 Russians were hurled back.

Finland has by no means called up all her army reserves, a spokesman said, indicating that when the new forces of the 150 planes from abroad is in active commission, offensive Finnish aerial activity may be anticipated.

Reports stated that Soviet army officials and the G. P. U. had executed 21 Russian pilots following their effort to renew attacks upon Finland.

GETS YEAR IN JAIL AND MUST PAY DEBT OWED

Judge Boyer Lectures Man
Accused of Giving
Worthless Check

PURCHASED 46 HOGS

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 7.—Judge Boyer sentenced Francis Morris, 41, 1108 Clifton avenue, Collingdale, to pay the costs of prosecution, serve not less than three months nor more than one year in the county prison, and told him not to apply for a parole until he has made good the payment of $300 owed a Langhorne farmer.

Morris changed his plea from not guilty to guilty after he had testified. Morris bought 46 hogs for $300 from a Langhorne farmer, Robert Worrell, and gave an alleged worthless check. He was permitted by Judge Calvin S. Boyer to withdraw his plea of not guilty and enter a plea of guilty.

Judge Boyer, who excused the jury, sentenced Morris, who has been in similar trouble four separate times.

Taking the advice of his Court-appointed counsel, A. Paul Townsend, Jr., and pleading guilty after he had practically convicted himself before the jury during his own testimony, the defendant, Morris, who also bought hay and corn from the Langhorne farmer after posing as a reputable produce man, was given a severe reprimand by Judge Boyer.

"This was a deliberate attempt at least to get credit to which you were not entitled," said Judge Boyer. "You may have hoped to get enough money to pay Robert Worrell $300 for his pigs because you knew that he wouldn't have sold them to you on credit. You thought after you had the pigs he might whistle for his money. Morally you are no better than a thief."

"It is a contemptible thing to pose as a reputable dealer when all the time you knew that you were deceiving the man. You represented yourself as having bank accounts in good banks and having been in business for a number of years. You have injured every person who attempts to buy on credit in Bucks county."

"Your kind of conduct kills all credit between a dealer and producer in your kind of business. The Court hasn't a

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

Although only 13 years of age, John Cuthbertson, Jr., Jamison, succeeded in bringing down a deer in Monroe county, Saturday morning.

According to the game laws, a person of this age must be accompanied by either one of his parents, a guardian or some member of his family who is 21 years or more of age.

The youthful nimrod was accompanied on his hunting trip by his father and Benjamin Bennett, also of Jamison, and several friends from West Chester. The deer young Cuthbertson shot was an eight-point buck weighing about 150 pounds.

Every indication points to a large attendance for the dinner meeting of the Bucks County Council of Republican Women at the Doylestown Inn this evening.

Reservations are being made daily with Miss Eleanor K. Worthington, Hartsville. Due to the fact that Judge Claire Fennerty will be busy with his new duties and unable to attend, the program committee has secured as the leading speaker, J. Gordon Mason, of Luzerne county, Assistant Attorney General assigned to the Department of Forests and Waters.

In addition, other speakers will include Mrs. Humbert Borton Powell, Devon, president of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women; Mrs. Josephine Bright, contact member of the newly-appointed Commerce Department of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

There will be music by one of Philadelphia's outstanding harpists, Dorothy Johnstone Baseler.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Flynn, of 50 Green street, Morrisville, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary when they were tendered a surprise party with a few friends present at their home.

Mrs. Flynn, the former Miss Mary Flanagan, of Trenton, and Mr. Flynn, born in Washington, N. J., were married at the Immaculate Conception Church, in Trenton, on November 29, 1899. They lived two years in Trenton and spent the rest of their married life in Morrisville.

Mr. Flynn is employed in the Vulcanized Rubber Company, where he has worked for the past 45 years. They have one child, Mrs. Gilbert Howell.

Although it was not one of the largest gates ever taken in at the annual Turkey Day classic—the Doylestown High School-Lansdale football game—Supervising Principal J. Leonard Halderman, of the Doylestown Schools, announced that the County Seaters will receive $672.83 as their share of the receipts this year.

Mr. Halderman, who explained the largest gate took place two years ago, said the total receipts amounted to $1395.66. Because the game was played in Doylestown, the home-team receives the sum of $50 to defray the expenses of the "host team" which invariably amount to more than that.

Therefore, the County Seaters' actual share of $1395.66 was $722.83, including the additional $50 for expenses.

The Doylestown school head was gratified by the support given the football game but deplored the fact that many of the other football games during the season were not self-supporting.

SANTA TO HAVE ESCORT OF CADETS HERE TONIGHT

Jolly Old Fellow Invites All
Children in This Area
To Be On Hand

EXPECTED AT 7.30 P. M.

The zero hour draws near and everybody in Bristol and surrounding towns is filled with expectation!

The reason? Santa Claus left the North Pole this morning, and he's headed for Bristol!

The old gentleman with the rosy cheeks and long white whiskers is expected on Mill street tonight at 7.30 o'clock.

Upon his arrival in Bristol he will be met by our own famous Bristol Cadets and they will escort him along Mill Street to his headquarters at 410 Mill street, the store which was recently occupied by the American Stores Co.

All is in readiness for Santa at his headquarters. The store has been decorated in Christmas colors. Christmas trees have been decorated in Christmas colors. Christmas trees have been erected inside. And best of all, a special mail box has been placed in the store so that all of the little boys and girls can drop their letters in.

It is expected that hundreds of children and their parents will be on hand this evening to witness Santa's entry on Mill street as he rides down the length of the street on a special float that has been prepared for him.

In a letter from Santa this morning he said, "I want to meet every little girl and boy in Bristol. And I want to meet all my friends from the towns around Bristol. I'll be there at 7.30. So come in and tell me what you want for Christmas."

Santa will be here tomorrow evening, Saturday afternoon and evening and every evening next week and the following week.

It was because of a special invitation to Santa from the Mill Street Business Men's Association that the jolly old fellow promised to come to Bristol. All details for his comfort and entertainment have been arranged by the Christmas committee of the Association, headed by Dave Norman.

They're Hardy Lads

(By "The Stroller")
One of Bristol's firemen may catch a cold in his noodle, or perhaps pneumonia—but our hopes are that there are no serious effects.

We couldn't help thinking just that when we saw the driver of one piece of apparatus whizz to a fire yesterday, a day when the 40-degree was damp and penetrating, in a sleeveless shirt.

But they're hardy lads—they seem to be able to take it. As for us, we'll draw another muffler about our neck.

Boy of Five Years Has Party On His Anniversary

David Mathias, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. David Mathias, 270 Monroe street, was five years old Tuesday and in the afternoon was host to little friends at a party. Games were played and prizes awarded to James DeVoe, Dolores Barea, Jack Thomson, and Mary Elizabeth Coles. Refreshments were served in the dining room and yellow and green tones decorated the room. Small yellow and green baskets of candy were favors. Each guest received a gift. David received many presents.

Others present: Francis Hayden, Patricia Waters, Charles Foltz, J. Russell Johnson, Joseph Commare, May Beth Brown, Gerald Savard, Donald Zepp, Irene Baines, Terry Earll, Mrs. Fred Wise, Mrs. Francis Hayden, Mrs. David Mathias, all of Bristol; Charlotte Baker, Robert and Jay Baker, Mrs. Jay Baker, Mrs. J. Baker and Mrs. Ralph Baker and John Baker.

HOME AND SCHOOL LEAGUE PLANS CHRISTMAS PARTY

It Will Be Held at The School
Thursday Evening,
December 28th

WILL EXCHANGE GIFTS

TULLYTOWN, Dec. 7.—The regular meeting of the Home and School League was held at the school, Monday evening, with President, Mrs. Helen Nichols presiding. Before the business meeting, entertainment was furnished by a number of the school children. First was several selections by a rhythm band of eight boys, followed by a song by Louise Doan, Philomena Poane and Margie Swangler. Florence Scoll gave a recitation, and little Dorothy Carman, impersonating a butterfly, gave a song and tap dance.

Final plans were made for the card party to be given by the League Friday evening. It has been made necessary to hold the affair at the school instead of at Wright's Inn as had been planned. A combined Christmas party and business meeting was decided upon. This will be held at the school Thursday evening, December 28th. Each one attending is asked to take a small gift to be exchanged that night. It was also voted to follow the custom of the previous year and give each school a gift of candy.

A banner has been purchased by the League and is to be awarded to the room having the most parents represented at the meeting. This was awarded to Miss Thompson's room for the ensuing month. All parents are urged to come to the meeting and help their child's room get the banner. After the business meeting, refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served.

Community Center
Has Busy Program

The Bristol Community Center on Franklin street is full of activity from nine o'clock in the morning, to nine o'clock at night. The activities include the Toy Project for repairing and refashioning cast-off toys, supervised recreation, cooking, sewing and craft and shop classes, social dancing and club meetings.

Wednesday evening there will be dancing which is free to the public, although admission is by ticket. Tickets may be had by phoning or calling at the Community Center. Also, Wednesday night there will be a meeting of the Community Center General Committee, of which Dr. J. Fred Wagner is the executive chairman. The committee will receive reports on plans for distribution of toys and food for Christmas, finances and activities.

Thursday evening from seven to ten the shop will be open for all those wishing to make their own Christmas gifts. This shop period provides an excellent opportunity for all young people and adults of Bristol and vicinity to create something, as well as to make gifts for their friends. Instruction and equipment will be furnished, and the only charge will be the cost price for materials used. Albert Hartman, director of the Center, will be in charge of the shop for the evening.

Donations of odds and ends will be appreciated. Call 3118, or stop in at the Community Center. There is need for such things as half pint and pint glass jars, toys and games, women's old stockings, dress goods, sewing thread and paint.

ADVERTISING DEADLINE EFFECTIVE NOVEMBER 27TH

All display advertising copy for insertion in the Courier must be at the Courier office not later than 12 o'clock noon two days previous to day on which the advertising is to appear. We reserve the right to reject copy received after the designated time.

This rule is made necessary in order to give the mechanical department ample time in which to set the ad, and properly illustrate it. It is hoped that advertisers will co-operate and make reservations for space desired and furnish their copy on time.

Copy will not be accepted after the expiration of the deadline announced above.

MAN BURNED AS VARNISH 'GOES UP' IN BOILING VAT

Wm. Hawthorne, 46, Phila.,
Suffers First Degree Burns
In Accident

NOW IN THE HOSPITAL

Workman Painfully Burned
About Face, Head, Chest
and Both Arms

A Philadelphia varnish maker was seriously and painfully burned yesterday afternoon when a vat of varnish caught fire in the varnish making plant of the French-Wolf Paint Products Corporation, here. The man, William Hawthorne, 43, 546 E. Allegheny avenue, suffered first degree burns about the face, head, chest and both arms. He is in the Harriman Hospital where this morning that he was "about the same."

Hawthorne in explaining how the accident occurred mumbled out a few words as he lay upon the operating table in the hospital. "I was boiling 'perilla,' had the heat up and it went up."

The "perilla" was in a portable vat mounted on a truck and was over an oil burner when it caught fire. The boiling process is done in a sheet-iron building in the yard between the plants of the Superior Zinc Corporation and the Manhattan Soap Company. The varnish plant has been continued here since the disastrous fire which wiped out the French-Wolf plant several months ago and following which they moved the rest of their plant to Philadelphia.

Hawthorne apparently was in the building when the fire started and perhaps attempted to either pull the vat from the fire or else tried to turn off the burner. The flames caught him on the front of the body. He was afire in an instant.

Great clouds of heavy black smoke leaped into the air and numerous detonations were heard as steel drums of combustible material exploded. The drums were outside of the building but stacked against the sheet iron structure. The explosions were felt as far as Pond street by residents in that section.

Hawthorne was sprayed with the burning fluid from the vat and cans of varnish in the building which burst.

Bristol Consolidated firemen answered the alarm with all available apparatus as two alarms were sounded. An estimate of the loss was not obtainable today from any member of the French-Wolf firm but Fire Chief Hagerman hastily estimated it at $2,000.

Seeks Revocation of Thorn's License; Blamed in 3 Deaths

Lawrence Thorn, 26, of 57 Alden avenue, Trenton, N. J., is claimed to be responsible for three deaths by automobile in the past 4½ years, the third victim being Everett Neeld, 63, of near Oxford Valley, who met his death early on Tuesday morning.

Prosecutor Andrew J. Duch, Trenton, plans to ask the State Motor Vehicle Department to permanently revoke Thorn's driving license.

Thorn is being held under $1,000 bail on a charge of causing the death of Neeld when his car struck the elderly man on the River Road at Wilburthia, N. J., on Tuesday. Thorn is being held for grand jury action on the charge.

Police records show Thorn was the driver of a truck which struck and killed Ruth Sanders, six years old, of 16 East Front street, Trenton, on June 17, 1935. The grand jury failed to indict Thorn on a charge of causing death by a vehicle due to insufficient evidence, Duch said.

On September 25, 1936, the records reveal, Thorn was operating a vehicle on the River Road, near Titusville, when it hit and killed Kenneth Fraser, of Ewing Township. No grand jury indictment was returned in this instance, either.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1939

ALIVE: 29,000

The last four years have witnessed, year by year, a steady reduction in the auto accident fatality rate. From 1935 to date, the rate per 100,000,000 miles of motor vehicle operation has been reduced by much more than one-third. As reported by the National Safety Council, the record is as follows:

1935	17.4
1936	16.4
1937	15.9
1938	12.9
1939*	10.9

*six months

This record is the more gratifying because the automobile industry itself, through its Automotive Safety Foundation, has helped accomplish the reduction. Through the Foundation and in collaboration with other organizations, it has conducted research in traffic engineering, enabled technical personnel
training, fostered safety education, better laws and law enforcement and in other ways tried to make motoring safer, the automobile less a menace.

The reduction of the fatality rate from 17.4 to 10.9 has been the means of saving, it is estimated, 29,000 lives. It is something to have had even a small part in such an accomplishment and a great deal to have played so considerable a part
as the Automotive Safety Foundation certainly has.

Much remains to be done. Reduced though the toll is, more than 14,000 people lost their lives in traffic accidents during the first six months of this year. According to the Foundation, the fatality rate can be reduced in the next four years to six and eventually to three, given modern express highways on the principal routes of urban and suburban congestion.

It is toward this latter objective
—engineered safety on the roads—
that the Foundation now is bending its efforts.

AERONAUTICAL WONDER

The world's fastest airplane powered by the world's most efficient air-cooled engines will emerge soon
from the laboratories of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. That is the word which comes from Langley Field.

A new knife-like wing, which is a strict military secret, will enable an airplane to fly at speeds of 500 miles or more because it will nearly eliminate the "shock wave" which develops on a wing surface when a plane's speed approaches the speed of sound. The new engine, some of which are reaching the production stage, will have three times the power of present engines. This development, which required eight years of research by the committee's engineers, is merely a different arrangement of the fins, or strips of metal lining the outside of the engine cylinders to carry away excess heat.

Such terrific power increase created another problem—new propellers which can utilize all the power available. The committee's engineers are at work on propellers of larger diameter. They may have four or six blades instead of the present two or three.

Meanwhile, the Wright Aeronautical Corporation has developed a new "booster" for airplane engines
which will keep their power output constant up to altitudes of 20,000 feet or more. Present engines generating 1,000 horsepower at sea level lose power gradually in ascending to high altitudes.

"RED EARTH" by TOM GILL

SYNOPSIS

At Miracle Mesa, the Douglas ancestral estate near Mexico, a girl named Lola awaits the return of her fiancé, Jack Douglas, after an absence of six years. Lola is the adopted daughter of Jack's Aunt Ines. Her friend, Alison Neale, owner of the neighboring ranch,
hopes Jack is the leader they are waiting for to fight the raiders. In an adobe up the trail two men also discuss Jack's return. "If you're wise you won't let Jack Douglas live two days once he comes back.
Baker" (one of Jack's riders) "is telling the world what will happen
when Douglas comes back," says
one. "It's time I made an appointment with Baker," the other replies.

CHAPTER II

Through the night that distant thunder rumbled nearer, and before dawn the last of the spring storms broke over the foothills. Not until darkness did the downpour give any respite to two drenched and weary riders splashing along the Verde road.

The rider in front was thick-set,
with powerful legs and shoulders
sitting his horse in a kind of aggressive solidity—a heavy, bear-like man. The other was taller but of slender build, and he rode almost carelessly, with the instinctive assurance of a born horseman.

Suddenly the horse of the forward rider raised its head, its gait slack-ened as if at some message borne down the wind, and feeling that change, the rider reined in to a halt.
He cupped his hand above the storm.

"This horse hears something."

They had stopped just where the road dipped over the edge of a dry arroyo, and uneasily the thick-set rider peered down the deep bank.
With ears alertly forward, both horses sniffed the air, and in the same moment a sudden lull in the wind's clamor brought to their riders the deep booming of galloping hoofs from the north.

With a sharp word of warning the burly rider pulled his companion back into the shadow of the mes-quite barely an instant before a band of horsemen came tearing around the bend.

Dark and inscrutable, grimly silent, they hurried past the silent watchers just above them until once more the only sound was the rustle
of desert sand before the wind.

The burly man leaned forward.
"Raiders! Some rancher will find himself out of luck to-morrow morning."

"Raiders? I do not understand."
"Well, you've just seen some of the outfit that's making all this valley eat out of their hand."

"They are outlaws?"

"You might call 'em that."

"Where do they go, these raiders?"

"Nobody knows."

"But it should be an easy thing to track so large a band, no?"

There was just the slightest trace of accent in the man's voice, a momentary deliberation of speech that gave to what he said an air of hesitation, but the things that stood out clearest of all was the arresting quality of the voice itself, an effortless resonance that seemed to hold something of the eagerness of youth and something too of the self-possession that comes with maturity. But now that eager quality was uppermost.

"Raiders," he repeated. "Let us
follow them, Paxton. It will be exciting."

The other barked a laugh of irritation. "Not for me. Two months ago a band of raiders burned Simpson's barn. Simpson rode out single-handed to track them down. Maybe he thought it might be exciting too.
But these birds don't play that way.
Ten miles from where Simpson started to trail 'em they dropped off
a guard to stop any ambitious rider that might come loping along. The whole story was there in the sand.
We buried Simpson where we found him."

Douglas remembered Paxton's words. "They drop off a guard to stop ambitious riders." So that crouching form in the shadow of the arroyo was waiting to cut down any possible pursuer? Again Douglas peered over the steep bank, but the silent figure beneath them had not moved, and in sudden decision the tall man dismounted. Two noiseless steps brought him to the very edge of the arroyo; for a single second he poised like a diver on the brink, then gathered himself and leaped. A hundred and eighty pounds of bone and muscle hurtled downward, two hands fastened on a pair of shoulders, and

The horseman slipped from the saddle and crouched low.

The tall man raised eloquent eyebrows. "And because one rancher
has been killed, does all the border submit to a handful of raiders?"

With mounting anger Paxton turned in his saddle. "Have you had much experience with this sort of thing over in Spain, Douglas? Because if you haven't, you better take my word that here on the border it ain't a safe game."

Those eyebrows lifted even higher. "Dios," Douglas marveled, "was it then of safety we were speaking?
Almost all my life have I lived in this border country, but never before have men talked to me of safety."

Paxton's face flushed. "You've been away six years, Jack Douglas
—so maybe you wouldn't know that people don't accuse me of being yellow."

Without replying Douglas had leaned forward over his horse's shoulder, his face turned intently up the arroyo, for a sharp click of stones told of the approach of yet another rider. Almost at once a dim figure galloped around the bend,
coming to a halt directly beneath
them, and after a second's hesitation, the horseman slipped from the saddle and crouched low in the desert sands.

beneath the impact of his flying body
a muffled cry cut the silence. A swirl of desert sand, another cry, and Douglas was calling, "Bring a rope!"

Frantically the two bodies rolled on the far side of the arroyo, while Paxton jerked his lariat from the saddle and scrambled down the bank.

"Fasten his legs," Douglas' mouth was gritty with sand, but his captive lay helplessly pinned beneath him. "Here is one caballero who may tell us something of his night-riding friends."

Hurriedly twirling the rope into a half-hitch, Paxton knelt beside the prostrate figure, then—the coiled rope dropped unheeded from his hand, for the muffled but unmistakable voice of a woman had pronounced the wrathful words, "You imbeciles!"

In quick consternation Paxton pulled a flashlight from his coat, and its dazzling shaft shone into the angry, upturned face of a girl.

Her thick hair was filled with desert sand and her eyes glistened in silent fury.

Paxton spoke. "It's — Alison Neale."

Trenton-Morrisville Art Group Has An Exhibition

MORRISVILLE, Dec. 7.—Art is being delivered to the public by the Trenton-Morrisville Art Group, which is now staging its fifth annual exhibition.

The Trenton public library and its branches, and the Roebeling public library are the sites where exhibits are being staged, in place of "Summerseat," where they have been conducted in the past.

The artists whose works are now on display at these centers include: Mrs. Virginia Benedict, Yardley; George A. Bradshaw, Mrs. Lillie Cook, Earl Donelson, Charles M. Fox, Edith Green, Graham Holmes, Henry R. MacGinnis, Marion MacKinnon, Joseph Remlinger, Leon Rohrböcker, Mrs. W. Bradford Stryker, Luther Wenner, Marion Williams, Trenton, N. J.; Rachel Carver, Roy Kneeland, Amy Wells and Gordon White, all of Morrisville; Charles Ward, Carversville, and John Charry, of New Hope.

Oils, water colors, etchings and sculpture are on view, giving variety and interest to the exhibition. Mrs. Benedict is showing two oil paintings, one, "Red Babushka," being in the clear direct Robert Henri style. Mr. Bradshaw is showing one etching, "Stony Brook Bridge."

Miss Carver has entered two oils, "October Days" and "Louise," which reveal the artist's tendency to cling to the more academic method of expression. The oil, "Grampa Welton," reveals Lillie Cook in a new light as a portraitist.

Three oils by Earl Donelson are be-

Today's Quiet Moment

(By Howard L. Zepp, Th. M.)

Lord, this is the grace I want—the grace to suffer and wait. When Thou dost allow me to be shut in by the way, help me to see that these prisons—these sick-rooms, these stormy days, these thwarted plans, these sorrows of lonely grief—are waiting places through which I may presently pass to wider, richer experience and service.—Amen.

ing shown, "Music Through Ages," and one other, "Calla Lilies." Charles Fox is represented by "Turkey Oaks," painted in an unusual key and typical of Autumn. Edith Green has two paintings, "Brother and Sister" and "Buzzy and His Elephant."

"Rocky Coast, Cape Breton," is one of the two oils being shown by Henry MacGinnis and is a fine example of strong, deliberate handling. The other work is "Delphinium."

Three pastels by Marion Hankin MacKinnon are direct and unusually strong and Graham Holmes' "Bucks County" is a landscape clear in tone and full of light, while his "Lumberville" is treated in terms of pattern and color. He also has one portrait on view. Mr. Kneeland's "From a Country Garden" is well thought out in line and pattern.

Charles Ward, who did the murals in Trenton's new post office, is displaying three paintings done on a recent trip to Mexico, which are of unusual interest, and Miss Wells has entered "Union Street, Morrisville," an oil, and "Yardley Graveyard," a water color.

The "Still Life With Fish," by Joseph Remlinger, is reminiscent of the Dutch and Flemish masters in the fine handling of textures.

Etchings are also displayed by Leon Rohrböcker. They include "D. and R. Canal at Trenton," "Barnegat" and "In Tintagel Village."

Lytle K. Stryker has an interesting oil, "Ninety-Two Years," and Gordon White two oils done in Vermont. Marion Williams is represented by a "Self Portrait." Luther Wenner has exhibited illustrations for a book on Pennsylvania German architecture.

The sculpture in the show is the work of John Charry.

FIRST PLACE TO BE AT STAKE IN GAME HERE TONIGHT

Rohm & Haas Social Club To Meet Grundy Five FALLS VS. MANHATTAN
Grundy Five is Undeatable This Season

First place will be at stake in the Bristol Basketball League tonight as the Rohm & Haas Social Club quintet meets the Grundy team in the second game scheduled on the Italian Mutual Aid court. In the first game of the night, the Falls Alumni team lines up against the Manhattan Soap Company five.

The Grundyites are undefeated in three games played this season. Rohm & Haas has played twice and has split even, losing a close one to the Proty team in an extra period match.

Manager George Hermann, of the woolen twisters, is elated at the showing of his proteges thus far and feels confident that his club will go through the first round without a loss. He has to meet Manhattan to accomplish this, that is, if he gets by the chemical workers tonight.

The high scoring trio of Bucky Buckman, Johnny Zuck, and Billy Gallagher will be in the starting line-up of the Grundy five tonight while the other two posts will most likely go to "Bull" Vanzant and Snyder.

Manager Jimmy Eagan, anxious to get back into the win column, will use Ralph Cahall, Johnny Cole, Sammie Smith, Augie Everitt, and Johnny Dougherty in his beginning lineup. Cahall is one of the leading scorers of the circuit.

Thus far this season, Falls Alumni has been a dismal failure, losing its three scheduled games, although it must be stated that the losses were sustained by the closest of margins. Manhattan and Proty will move into a deadlock with Rohm & Haas and Grundy's, all for first place if the soap workers win and Grundy loses.

Opening tip-off is scheduled for eight o'clock sharp.

BILGER HIGH MAN IN BOWLING MATCH

The Industrial League bowled last evening with Detweller's defeating "Dot's" 3 to 1. Bilger was high for Detweller's with 528 and Hornby for "Dot's" at 529.

K. of C. upset R. & H. 3 to 1. Clottliffe made 579 and Foell 491.

Sinclair tied League leading Coffey's two all. Shisler was high with 577, Kondyra high with 529. Squire Melvin, manager of Sinclair, had a surprise in store for the boys. The Squire, who is also a hunter, shot a seven pound 150 pound deer in Pike Co. last Friday. So the kind-hearted "Judge" presented the boys with some of the spoils of "war."

With the first half rolling to a close many of the teams are just coasting along. It looks like the National and Federal Leagues are about sewed up but there is still a close race in the American and Federal leagues.

Your Tattler would like to see a tournament run over the holidays. We believe the boys would enjoy such an event and at the same time keep in trim during the layover.

Milt Jones had a tough one last week; after starting with a 194, his next two games were well over 200. Had he knocked down six more pins in the opening canto he would have received a Record medal. Tough luck, Milt. We understand that Carrie Keers also came close last week. Better luck next time, Carrie.

Although not generally done in league competition, nevertheless it is an A.B.C. rule that a bowler must throw at all splits, including the 7-10. Who knows, you may have a little luck. We have been many tough splits made on the local alleys.

Well, bowlers, you just keep plugging along and maybe you'll have a perfect game some of these days, but until that time just keep shooting for that pocket. Your Tenpin Tattler will be back again next week to give you the lowdown on the maple knockers in this vicinity and elsewhere.

Franklin A. C. Wins Over Croydon Y. M. A.

Behind good defensive work the Franklin Athletic Club defeated Croydon Y. M. A. last night at the Croydon Skating Rink by the score of 19-16. Coach Chabell being high scorer for the winning club with three field goals and two foul shots while the other Franklin boys which consisted of Sagolla Jr., Seneca C., DeLuca G., DiGirolamo and the Palumbo boys did good defensive work in helping the team to victory.

BOB WARNER WINS THE FEATURE ARENA BOUT

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 7.—The feature wrestling match at the Arena was won last evening by Bob Warner, the crowd-drawing Oregonian. Abe Coleman was disqualified by Referee Doc Gehman at the end of 17 minutes. Warner was substituting for Steve "Crusher" Casey.

The Missouri grappler, Joe Cox, pinned Jim Casey, in a 25-minute period, after dropping Casey with a forearm blow to the chin.

Much abuse was heaped on Coleman, and his anger was aroused. He then tore into his opponent with a vengeance. Methods didn't meet with the approval of the referee, and the "ref's" attempts to break the pair were turned aside by Coleman. Three times Abe knocked the referee to the mat. Doc then told the timekeeper to ring the bell, and after the wrestlers had separated he raised Warner's hand in token of victory.

Cox toyed with Casey for the better part of their match and the latter proved an easy prey for the wily Missourian. Joe tossed his opponent

Tommy Marvin, Oklahoma rough-neck, won the third match on the card by pinning Wendy Black, promising youngster, after 17 minutes with a punishing neck hold. Black was only too willing to give in as the husky Marvin applied his hold. Abe Younist, popular Hebrew, battled to a draw with Ralph Garibaldi, Gino's brother, in the second match. The opener went to Allan Eustance, who tossed Whitey Govro in 17 minutes.

particle of doubt that you merely used a check, which you knew to be worthless, as a piece of paper to fool Mr. Worrell."

When confronted by a series of arrests which were on a record read by District Attorney Edward G. Biester, the defendant denied that he was the "Francis Morris," although his own father had furnished bail, saying there were three or four Francis Morris' living in that section.

Robert G. Hendricks, counsel for Mr. Worrell, prosecuted the case for the Commonwealth. The defendant, who testified he knew he didn't have enough money in the bank to pay for the 46 hogs, said he had two checks in his pocket which were worth $400. He also admitted being arrested three times prior to this for issuing checks which were protested later.

Testifying that some of the pigs died and others were sold, the defendant said he was arrested by Constable Clinton W. Becker, of Doylestown, and that he only took five the first day, coming back for the rest the next day when he also purchased some hay and corn.

He admitted never making any attempt to make good the check prior to the beginning of the prosecution.

When he insisted that he was not the "Francis Morris," who has been in similar trouble in Pottstown, West Chester, Yeaton and other places, Judge Boyer remarked that District Attorney Biester would have sufficient time to check up thoroughly on the proper identity of the present defendant with reference to the charges.

ON THE SCREENS

BRISTOL THEATRE

A new landmark in motion picture history was reached last night when Samuel Goldwyn, one of Hollywood's foremost producers, brought Jascha Heifetz and his immortal violin music to the screen in "They Shall Have Music," a richly human story, which had a gala premiere at the Bristol Theatre and received the thunderous plaudits of a capacity audience.

In addition to marking the screen debut of the great Heifetz, "They Shall Have Music" also brings to millions of moviegoers the thrilling music of the California Junior Symphony, an orchestra composed of 45 boys and girls who have been hailed as juvenile prodigies.

RITZ THEATRE

You'll thrill to a new kind of crime riddle in "Charlie Chan at Treasure Island," the newest of the 20th Century-Fox mystery thrillers which plays Sidney Toler to the Ritz Theatre today as the famous Earl Derr Biggers detective.

If there's a hard way to do something simple, leave it to the Jones Family to find it out. And if that hard way is the most hilarious way, then certainly the famous screen family will be in the thick of it. In their latest 20th Century-Fox film, "Quick Millions," which plays at the Ritz Theatre, the Joneses inherit a gold mine and it costs them ten for every dollar they take out of it!

FRUIT CAKES NEED TO RIPEN BEFORE HOLIDAYS ARRIVE

By Miss Edna Stephany
(Home Economics Representative)

Making fruit cakes is one of the first in the traditional round-of-holiday preparations. Fruit cakes need time to ripen in order to bring out the characteristic spicy flavor. It requires several weeks for all the different flavors to mix and blend with each other.

For best results, the fruit and nuts should be prepared and all the ingredients measured before the cake is actually started. Today nuts may be purchased already shelled and chopped, although the cook must inspect them carefully to see that they are free from bits of shell. Dried fruits such as raisins and apricots, which are abundant this year, come in convenient packages and are almost ready to use. The candied fruit may be purchased in large chunks or in packages of measured amounts already cut into small-sized pieces.

Some women prefer to do much of the preparation process for themselves. In this case it is well to get the fruit and nuts ready ahead of time and store them in covered containers in a cool place, so they are ready to mix into the batter and bake at a later date.

See that everything that goes into the cake is of good quality. Make sure that the fruit is cut quite fine so that the cake will be easy to slice and so each small piece will have a variety of things in it. In mixing the cake, add part of the flour to the fruit and nuts to separate the pieces and keep them well distributed throughout the cake.

If the cake is baked in an oblong loaf, the pan should be quite narrow in order to get the cake done in the center without burning the edges. A round pan with a tube in the center is also very satisfactory, since it allows the heat to penetrate evenly. Such a round cake is served more attractively when cut into thin slices instead of thick wedges, like pieces of pie.

Practical containers of glass or earthenware are also on the market now in small sizes and a variety of shapes. These "pans" have the advantage of needing no wax paper lining before they are filled with the fruit cake batter. The baking dish, as well as the cake, will be appreciated as a gift.

After the batter is poured into the pan, the top is decorated with cherries, candied pineapple, angelica, candied orange peel, pecans, or blanched almonds. These may be arranged to form the petals, stem, and leaves of a flower; or they may even be made to simulate a green wreath with holly berries.

Whether to bake or to steam the fruit cake is a question that can be answered only by individual preference. Baking is probably the commoner method and makes for a slightly dried cake. A slow oven of 250 to 300 degrees F. is advisable for a cake that is heavy with fruit. Too hot an oven will cause a hard crust to form on the edges of the cake before the center is sufficiently baked, and the fruit may burn and spoil the taste.

Steaming a fruit cake gives it a somewhat moist texture that many people prefer and it does away with the danger of burning the crust. Either a regular steamer or a pressure cooker, with the petcock open, may be used. Also, a steamer can be improved by using a tightly covered container with a rack to keep the cake pan well above the boiling water. Cover the cake loosely with another pan to prevent the steam from condensing on it. A four-pound cake is steamed for four to five hours and then placed in a very slow oven of 225 to 250 degrees F. to dry for about an hour.

After it comes from the oven, cool the cake on a rack, then wrap tightly in wax paper to prevent the moisture from evaporating, and finally store in a tightly covered tin container.

Decorative Dainties

By Frances Lee Barton

THIS is the time of year when decorative dishes are in order. A simple cup cake, frosted and adorned with holly or mistletoe designs, becomes a seasonable aristocrat. A cookie with fancy form or lettered icing becomes a treasure to children—at almost too pretty to eat.

Here is a recipe for Holly Cakes—easy to make, delightful to look at and delicious to eat—the kind of cakes that guests remember long after they leave:

Holly Cakes

1½ cups sifted cake flour; 1½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ½ teaspoon salt; 2 tablespoons butter or other shortening; 1 cup sugar; 2 eggs, unbeaten; ½ cup milk; 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and mix together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together well. Add eggs and beat thoroughly. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Turn into greased cupcake pans, filling them ¾ full, and bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 20 minutes, or until done. Cool, frost as desired, and decorate with colored candies, silver dragées, and slices of citron, in holly and mistletoe designs. Makes 2 dozen cakes.

Note: One-half can moist, sweetened coconut may be added to batter after adding eggs, if desired.
